

Instructor Application

Thank you for your interest in teaching with Backcountry Medical Guides (BMG). We are currently accepting instructor applications for all of our medical program disciplines - Wilderness, Mountain Bike, Maritime, Ski/Snowboard, and Trail Running. You can learn more about these on our website.

BMG is a co-op of Healthcare Providers, Guides, and Industry Professionals that have come together around a mission to build community preparedness through inclusive education, science based advocacy, and local accessibility.

We combine lots of different types of expertise into our programs. Some instructors are advanced specialists that only attend one or two programs per year in one discipline, while others have more general skill sets in many disciplines and serve as support to some programs, and as lead instructor to others.

After reviewing our different disciplines, those interested in becoming Backcountry Medical Guides Instructors should fill out the following application. This form is intended to understand your interest level and availability to teach our programs.

Availability

BMG public 2-day programs are scheduled for Saturday-Sunday. Our longer public programs (Wilderness First Responder) are week-long programs and typically run Monday-Saturday. With that in mind, BMG understands that instructors may not be available to teach every program in their area. We have regular instructors who teach 2+ programs each month, instructors that teach 2-3 programs a quarter, instructors who teach 2-3 a year, and volunteer instructors who volunteer to teach programs as their availability allows them.

In the space below, please indicate your availability for teaching BMG programs.

Next Steps

Please submit this completed application to employment@backcountrymedicalguides.org along with a copy of your resume for review.
